Williams Scotsman Acquires Mobile Space, Inc.
Expands Company's Customer Focus in Mid-western U.S.

Chicago, IL and Baltimore, MD – March 4, 2005 – Williams Scotsman announces the purchase of Mobile Space, Inc., a private, family owned business that specializes in the sale and leasing of mobile and modular offices. Williams Scotsman, already a leading mobile office and storage product provider throughout North America, will acquire approximately 650 units in this transaction, including mobile offices, storage containers, section-modular buildings, and classrooms. In addition to expanding the scale of operations in the greater Chicago area, Mobile Space brings a team of experienced employees, delivery vehicles, and a legacy of quality service that aligns well with Williams Scotsman's existing customer care philosophy and standards.

Rick Delvin, Regional Vice President for Williams Scotsman's Central Northwest Division, stated, "Mobile Space's reputation for product and service excellence is a perfect match to Williams Scotsman's business model. Their inventory and experienced staff will allow us to better serve our customers in Chicago and the surrounding area."

Williams Scotsman plans to offer Mobile Space customers a variety of new capabilities, including Redi-Space™ Solutions. Mobile Space customers will also benefit from Williams Scotsman's various alliances and business partnerships, including the Associated Builders & Contractors, the Associated General Contractors of America, the National Association of Homebuilders, the National Electrical Contractors Association, and the American Hotel & Lodging Association.
